

KEYNOTE

COACHING THE WRONG PLAYS: A DEEP DIVE ON COACHING VS. TELLING

Giving better direction to facilitate problem solving

DESCRIPTION

Coaching is not telling—it is facilitating the thinking of others while problem solving. It starts with understanding the current and future state, and only then diving into the solution space.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

“Our members consistently rank Angel as one of the best speakers at the Chicago Bar Association Leadership Institute. He delivers an engaging and interactive session on leading teams and coaching others in a way that truly resonates with the audience. Participants seek him out after our program for even more coaching advice.”

Jennifer Byrne

Director of the Young Lawyers Section
The Chicago Bar Association

SESSION LENGTH

90 minutes

ROOM SIZE

Best for groups of 40-50

PARTICIPANTS WILL:

- + Acquire strategic skills to give better direction
- + Uncover what it means to be not just a leader, but a coach
- + Learn to see the full picture and develop thoughtful solutions